Master the Art of Public Speaking

What happens when you're asked to give a speech, professionally or personally? If you get nervous, start sweating, and hope it's all just a bad dream then you aren't alone, but you need help. Master the Art of Public Speaking proves that speaking doesn't have to be painful, or even stressful.

This is the perfect program to help you become a more dynamic speaker and presenter. This program will teach you how to improve your public speaking and improve your confidence.

This program includes such topics such as:

- How to gather information and materials
- How to organize your presentation
- How to effectively use visual aids
- How to use vocal variety
- How to overcome speaking anxiety
- How to gesture more effectively
- How to use movement, facial expressions & eye contact
- How to handle the dreaded Q&A session and much, much, more

This dynamic program offers wisdom derived from my thirty-five-year speaking career, delivering more than 2,700 programs to clients from over 178 countries. I am the leading authority on the topic of public speaking and presentation skills.

"I want to thank you for providing your two-day presentation skills seminar for our professional staff at the French Embassy in Washington, DC. The feedback we received from each of the participants was that the seminar was one of the best they had ever attended"

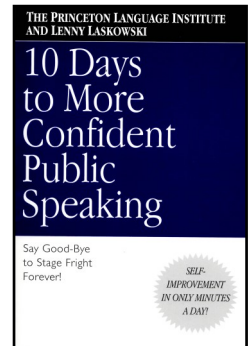

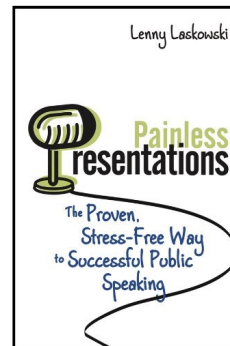

- Laurent Jacquet-Saillard, Head of Administrative Department Ambassador —French Embassy

"I would like to thank you for the outstanding seminar you recently conducted on behalf of Verizon's National Sales Support Team. As our group makes presentations for a living, you were able to speak to them in a language familiar to them and to provide them with tips and techniques with which they were previously unfamiliar. The participants left your seminar energized and with an increased level of confidence in their abilities to make professional presentations."

- Jeff Patton, Senior Staff Consultant/Manager National Sales Support Team Verizon
